

(17) For sense of data integrity I did request an excerpt of my personal data (how/where) on several visits with local authorities. Resulting in friendly but <sup>unintentionally</sup> void conversations "Behörden-ethos" (German for "bureaucratic ethos") meaning: ~~too~~ so much I have experienced to learn the ~~the~~ <sup>the</sup> ~~German~~ <sup>German</sup> ~~ethos~~ <sup>ethos</sup> "Behörden-ethos".

Appropriate for storing my personal data in 5 different countries outside the borders of Germany <sup>geographically version of</sup> (etc. etc.). & If (and including) <sup>there</sup> you can offer a certain form of diversity ~~say~~ <sup>using</sup> ~~using~~ <sup>using</sup> continents ~~hemispheric~~ society and thinking, providing integrity and regulating in an accessible speed ~~water~~ would be welcome. <sup>extension?</sup> <sup>that dimension</sup> if my understanding is ~~in a minor way correct~~ <sup>not</sup> incorrect in a severe way so you would have to read this as an ~~verification~~ <sup>verification</sup> - basic nation's need to think synchronously in both directions whereas <sup>the</sup> western world loves to speak a kind of asynchronously both left to right ~~understands~~ <sup>transitions</sup> and vice versa flipped and turned in a magic manner so what actually did I want to say, you see. Consequently the explicit exclusion of Germany is a decision ~~made~~ <sup>made</sup> indicating ~~an~~ <sup>an</sup> independence, <sup>shockingly exactly a sort of</sup> and by ~~thereby~~ <sup>thereby</sup> ~~it~~ <sup>it</sup> behaviour back to Germany ~~implicitly~~ <sup>implicitly</sup> transparency. Note: Yes, having the same conditions I'd rather prefer Israel than <sup>the</sup> USA because of state distance (comparing to <sup>just</sup> USA to Israel)
